Select Specific Document Collections
from IHS Specs & Standards

The Source
for Critical Information and Insight™

Information needs differ greatly between the single shop operation and the worldwide corporation, but now the source for that mission critical data can be the same through IHS Custom Collections. With IHS Custom Collections, you can build a customized collection of the specific documents you require – selecting from the IHS Specs & Standards index of more than one million documents from hundreds of sources.

Benefits of IHS Custom Collections:

- Select only the documents you need
- Delivery via one of most sophisticated research tools available, IHS Specs & Standards, containing over 1M documents
- Receive email notification when a document in your collection changes
- Access your customized list anywhere via the internet
- Set up Personal Document Lists for any document that you don't have access to but would like to know when it updates or supersedes
- Access via your company server or the IHS ERC via the internet

How it works:

- Your IHS Sales Representative will partner with you throughout the process, helping you to create the optimal list for your organization and project
- Upon receipt of your list, we will provide you with a quote
- Utilizing IHS Specs & Standards, your selected documents will be set up in a Personalized Documents List
- Using a Custom Collection within IHS Specs & Standards will help you meet your internal quality standards

It's that easy to get the specific documents you need with IHS Custom Collections.
